

THE LOUISVILLE WEEKLY JOURNAL.

VOLUME XXXI.

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15, 1860.

NUMBER 39.

THE WEEKLY JOURNAL. PUBLISHED AND PUBLISHED.

PRENTISS, HANDELL, & OSBORNE,
JOURNAL OFFICE BUILDING, GREEN STREET.

BETWEEN THIRD AND FOURTH.

RECEIVED PAYMENT IN ADVANCE.

ADVERTISING RATES—EXACTLY IN ADVANCE.

ALL advertisements must be paid for in advance or assumed by a responsible person in this city. This rule will not be deviated from.

AGENTS.

M. S. N. Black, East Park.

J. H. Bowles, Louisville.

J. H. Buttress, Bell.

H. C. Green, Louisville.

W. T. Gray, Louisville.

R. G. Green, Louisville.

W. H. Hart, Louisville.

A. H. Hart, Louisville.

W. H. Hart, Louisville.

We call attention to the Address of the National Executive Committee of the Union Party, which will be found in our columns this morning. It is a good document, but inevitably, the principles of policy upon which the Union Party are prepared to fight for their leaders Bell and Everett, are a dominant that every friend of the Union cause should read himself and them hand it over to his neighbor and let him peep at it.

The NORTH CAROLINA ELECTION.—Our readers have seen, by reports from North Carolina, that there has been a change in the front of the Union party, a change no amounting to yet however to a revolution. In the preceding election of Governor, the Democratic candidate, received a majority of more than sixteen thousand, and this majority was half annihilated in the late trial.

The Baltimore Citizen says with truth that the result is of great significance for the party. It is an interesting indication that North Carolina will give her electoral votes without fail for Bell and Everett. In the election that has just taken place, the Democratic party was beaten in North Carolina, but it will be divided between the Douglas and Breckinridge tickets. A master Democracy, starting with a majority of over sixteen thousand, can not be expected by the most sanguine Democrat that either portion of the same party, when divided, will be able to carry it again. The Union party candidates.

The vote for John Bell is hardly an approximation of the vote that will be cast for Bell and Everett in North Carolina in November. The programme of the former, however, may be made up after the Union party is in the field, so far as the organization in that State is not yet completed. The principal issue in the State election was a purely local one, under all these disadvantages and against a master Democracy, the Opposition there have received by more than half the immense Democratic majority, and have demonstrated their power to carry the State. The Union party, for the Union party's sake, in the Presidential election, when the Democracy will be weakened by division, and the Union party will be strengthened by organization and daily accession to their ranks.

This result in North Carolina is an evidence of the popular revolution in favor of Bell and Everett in the State. It is in progress, everywhere to now and never to stop, and will fill them with confidence that all the Southern States except South Carolina may be called for the noble and patriotic statesmen whose names are inscribed upon the banner of the Union party. It was hoping for an apparent impossibility to hope to overcome the tremendous Democratic majority, and have demonstrated their power to carry the State. The Union party, for the Union party's sake, in the Presidential election, when the Democracy will be weakened by division, and the Union party will be strengthened by organization and daily accession to their ranks.

The editor of the Courier still insists that men were knocked down at the polls on Monday, but we think he has by this time become too cold to be willing to repeat the statement declaration he made on Tuesday morning that the people of the country which made violence, and restlessness could do. But we will not repeat that declaration, nor is there any truth in this admission, everything was done on Monday, "which modish, violence, and restlessness could do."

Our neighbor, as far as he is concerned, in regard to the comparative peace and quiet that prevailed on Monday night, possibly he is a traitor to the reputation of our city, takes pains to hint up or invent an explanation of this state of case, and favors the public at home and abroad with his expression of his opinion that there was no real trouble in the election in this city, he does not say that he ever heard. We hope he will not be too anxious to show himself herein a true oracle.

If it is true that violence was done at the polls in this city on Monday, and if, as is alleged or intimated by one of the Democratic papers, the police did nothing to restrain the mob, then we say, as we have said already, that the police, who are now to blame, and that North Carolina will be reviewed and regenerated, and will be found safe with wide open Maryland and Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, victoriously supporting Bell and Everett.

The editor of the Courier still insists that men were knocked down at the polls on Monday, but we think he has by this time become too cold to be willing to repeat the statement declaration he made on Tuesday morning that the people of the country which made violence, and restlessness could do.

Let them enter upon an investigation and call for proof of the charges against police officers, and, if the charges be established, inflict upon the offenders the punishment prescribed by the law. What are they? If they do nothing to punish members of the police who are guilty of such acts, then they are as bad as the police that make law, violence, and restlessness could do. Let this be the very time when the efficacy of the Democratic plan of Police Commissioners should be tested!

Last year the Hon. John W. Stevenson's district gave him a majority of three thousand four hundred. He was exceedingly busy upon the stump throughout the canvass that has just closed, and the district has gone against his candidate by a large majority. Hon. George B. Moore, of the Breckinridge-Southern electors, has a large majority to that district, and we learn that in the city where he lives the Breckinridge candidate had about fifty votes less than the seven hundred taken.

If Steverson and Moore, instead of extending their labors to other portions of the State, had confined their whole attention to their own district, thereby no nothing, there's hardly any guessing how large the majority against them might have been.

Our neighbor, as far as he is concerned, in regard to the comparative peace and quiet that prevailed on Monday night, possibly he is a traitor to the reputation of our city, takes pains to hint up or invent an explanation of this state of case, and favors the public at home and abroad with his expression of his opinion that there was no real trouble in the election in this city, he does not say that he ever heard. We hope he will not be too anxious to show himself herein a true oracle.

The Frankfort Yeoman on the morning after the election said:

"The election received here last night was devoidly undevoted to the Democracy."

They are from, however, as far as we have seen, to a clear idea of the result, but Mr. McClellan's views are the best, and we believe it is in effect.

"The election has been a great deal of speculation as to who won the bottom of the barrel. We're the Breckinridge party send us up a description of the bottom of the barrel of politics."

From the way in which Compte has planned out the Contract of division in Kentucky, we would judge that he will be a lively business.

Mr. Yancey, famous himself, "shook down upon the friends of Bell and Everett." He will never be able to do that unless they act their bunting.

Mr. John C. Breckinridge is beaten in his own town, his own city, his own country, his own District, and his own State. Oh, what a bad end the South has on every hill and in every valley.

For our poor young program a little, Ring the bell instead of sounding the bugle.

Our neighbor says that some old Douglass' east have gone off after strange gods. Well, devil or other queer gods—that's a fact.

He has done a lively business.

Mr. Yancey's correspondence with the Hon. Edward Everett, of Massachusetts, is a good example of the kind who claim to be Democrats yet.

Let us send the bugle on every hill and in every valley.

It is a good day to have been born.

Our neighbor says that some old Douglass' east have gone off after strange gods. Well, devil or other queer gods—that's a fact.

We guess they will be outgrieved.

that we used to tell our master supports were in the Union, and that the Unionists are an anti-slavery party. The Courier is doing its best to get us to read all about it, to give timely warning of all real dangers and winds that people should not sniff a portion of freedom or the hopes of partisans to mislead or implant them in a false position." All that is intended to the Breckinridge party of its opinions concerning the crisis abroad. It says the election of Lincoln will "result in a dissolution of the Union," and will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into a standard and a standardless. In an era of reaction, governed by political parties, the last known of the Southern people who will not wait for an event, but are for dissolution in the event of Lincoln's election; they will not wait for his inauguration. No course of conduct he can take will inspire the South to remain neutral, and will not wait for the whole South to split up into

